- Confirmation of faith as a dialogue project
- Fascinating connection of rational confrontation and spiritual experience
- Inspiration for believers, seekers and doubters

Fundamental theology is a dialogue project – as self-assurance for the Church and as an apologia to doubters, believers of other religions and non-believers. It is concerned with the disclosure of one's own motives that allow the faith to be acceptable and understandable as a form of thought and life. But what do mysticism and spirituality – from Dionysius Areopagita to Master Eckhart, from Johann Arndt to Nelly Sachs and Jon Sobrino – contribute to the dialogue project on the reassurance of faith?

Edward Fröhling makes this spiritual path of longing for God, experiencing God's closeness and His hiddenness, God's friendship and the knowledge of God on the path of life fruitful for the rational effort of approaching the mystery of God.
